IGNATIUS CATHOLIC STUDY BIBLE QUESTIONS

Welcome

“You are approaching the ‘word of God’. But for thousands of years, . . . the Word of God has been approaching you.”

The following guide is provided to enhance your reading of the Book of Zephaniah using the Ignatius Catholic Study Bible. If you are new to this resource or to reading the Bible, we recommend you read the general Introduction before you begin. It explains what it means that Scripture is the Word of God as well as how we understand and interpret it as Catholics. It also introduces the special features of the Study Bible and tells how they can enrich your reading and study. Additionally, the Introduction to Reading the Prophets—especially the section on Zephaniah—will provide valuable context for your reading.

A simple rhythm of prayer followed by reading and reflection is offered below to guide you through the book one chapter at a time. Questions draw attention to key footnotes and word studies to lead you into a deeper understanding of what you read and then prompt you to consider how to apply what you have learned. For a deeper dive, take advantage of additional features as you go: not just the other footnotes but also cross-references to Scripture and the Catechism of the Catholic Church (CCC) that are provided above the footnotes as well as any maps, charts, or essays that are not touched on in the questions.

Don’t miss these helpful icons as you read! They highlight footnotes that pertain to the Church’s criteria for interpreting Scripture (see CCC 112–14):

Be attentive to the “analogy of faith”

Explore notes marked with an icon of keys to learn how the mysteries of faith, revealed in Scripture and defined by the Church, clarify and connect with one another in a unified, coherent way.

May God bless you as you read his word!

2:7 emptied himself: The Greek verb kenōō means “empty out” or “render void”. The idea is, not that Christ divested himself of divinity when he united himself with humanity, but that he restricted his rightful exercise of certain divine abilities during his earthly life and accepted certain limitations of the human condition. In effect, the Son of God made himself poor in order to make us rich with his grace (2 Cor 8:9) (CCC 472). • Christ emptied himself by compressing the glory of his Godhead within our smallness. What he always was remained perfect and incomprehensible, but what he assumed was in proportion to the measure of our nature (St. Gregory of Nyssa, Against Apollinarius).

2:8 death on a cross: The ultimate indignity. Death by crucifixion was the most awful and degrading form of criminal execution in the ancient world. The Romans reserved it for slaves and insurrectionists. See note on Mk 15:24.

2:9 exalted him: By raising him from the dead, enthroning him in heaven, and clothing his humanity with divine glory. A similar destiny awaits all who humble themselves as Jesus did (3:21; Lk 14:11).

2:10 every knee should bow: An allusion to the divine oath in Is 45:23. • Yahweh swore that all peoples, to the very end of the earth, would acknowledge his Lordship and bow before him in homage. Paul moves Christ into the center of this prophecy as the divine Lord destined to be revered by all. heaven . . . earth . . . under the earth: The three principal realms in the world view of ancient Israel (Ex 20:4). Pray

Use the following questions to guide your reading of Zephaniah, going at a pace that is comfortable to you. Before you begin each new section, pray simply for the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit:

Come, Holy Spirit, open my heart to hear and receive these words as what they truly are, the Word of God. Enlighten my understanding and give me grace to put what I read into practice in my life. Amen.

Read and Reflect

Read and reflect on Zephaniah as follows:

- Pray before you read
- Read a section of biblical text by itself
- Read the text again, referring to the notes that accompany the text
- For deeper understanding and to aid in applying what you read, answer the questions that follow. The references at the top of each numbered question correspond to particular notes.

At the end of each chapter, review what you have written and linger where you feel drawn, asking the Lord to speak to your heart and into your life. What do you hear? Respond in prayer and ask his help to live what you hear in your attitudes and actions this week.

- To what does denial of God's lordship over his people and their history amount?

Zephaniah 1:14

- Lest any mistake what is coming for good news, what does the prophet stress that Judah (including Jerusalem) is about to face?
- What sense does the expression "near and hastening fast" add to the prophet's message?

For Application

Zephaniah 1:5

- What is a “divided heart” when it comes to things of God?

- How do you think God responds to the prayers of those whose hearts are divided?

Zephaniah 1:7

- What does the command to be silent in a courtroom call upon those present to do besides stop talking?

- What attitudes of attention and respect are indicated?

- Why is silence before the Lord appropriate?

Zephaniah 1:12

- What is your view of the Lord’s role in everyday life?

- How do you answer someone who maintains that “the LORD will not do good, nor will he do ill”—that God is absent or is unconcerned with how people behave?

Zephaniah 1:15

- To what do they refer?
- Why do you think this sequence is no longer sung at funerals?
- What view of death has taken its place?

Reflect

After reading and reflecting on this chapter, I hear the Lord saying to me:

My prayer response to him:

Chapter 2

For Understanding

Zephaniah 2:3

- In urging his audience to seek the Lord instead of other gods, whom does the prophet address?
- How do they seek righteousness?
- How do they seek humility?
- Why does Zephaniah speak with cautious optimism?
- If divine mercy is not something upon which to presume, how does one attain it?

Zephaniah 2:4—3:7

- Against whom are these oracles addressed?
- Standing at the center of this regional map, by whom is Judah surrounded?

Word Study: Remnant (Zephaniah 2:7).

- To what does the Hebrew noun she' ērît meaning “what is left” refer?
- What theological significance does the notion of a remnant bear in the Bible?
- Even though the Assyrians and Babylonians carried thousands of Israelites into exile, what did God do with the remnants?
- In several places in the Minor Prophets, which was the remnant blessed by God?

Zephaniah 2:8

- Who were the Moabites and the Ammonites?
- For what are they mainly faulted?
- According to Genesis, how were both peoples born?

Zephaniah

- While, ironically, they escaped the fate of these cities at the time of their conception, what will happen to them now?

For Application

Zephaniah 2:3

- In an unsettled time such as this, for what might observant Catholics pray by seeking the Lord through prayer and fasting?

- From what wrath would they hope to be hidden?

Zephaniah 2:7

- Given that large numbers of people have been abandoning the faith as the world and even the Church become secularized, what hope do Christians have if only a small remnant is left?

- What will this remnant be like?

Zephaniah 2:9

- Zephaniah predicts that the remnant of Judah will possess the lands of Moab and Ammon. How does the possibility of a declining Christian population accord with Jesus' command to make disciples of all nations?

- How might this remnant renew the Church?

Reflect

- Although the Lord who dwells in the city is righteous, what is nearly everyone else like?

Zephaniah

- Because God is no longer trusted or approached in faith, what do Jerusalem's civil and religious leaders do?
- Instead of repenting, what does the city do?

Zephaniah 3:9–10

- With what are these verses concerned?
- If the negative side of judgment is bitterness, grief, and destruction, what is the positive side?
- What does Zephaniah foresee that survivors among the Gentiles will be doing?
- According to Vatican II, what day known to God alone does the Church still await?

- Owing in part to this prophecy, how has Catholic tradition thus come to view Mary?

For Application

Zephaniah 3:4–5

- How valid are the sacraments if they are administered by priests who do not believe the gospel they preach? For example, how valid is a Mass if a priest does not believe that the Consecration of the elements confects anything (CCC 1128, 1550, 1584)?
